A TALK WITH CONKLING

He Denounces the Charge That He Has Become a Democrat.

Grand Reception to the Maine and California Delegations at the Home of James G. Blaine, Augusta, Maine,

NEW YORK, June 11.-The World prints

the following:
"Did you see in Sunday's Herald what Judge Noah Davis said about your turning Democrat?" said a reporter to Roscoe Conkling.

"Yes, I did see what he was reported as saying, and from any other judge such talk would be hardly credible. Let me see his words which your question points

"'As for Conkling, no one can account for his course. I hear he has been elected a member of the Manhattan Club, and it certainly looks as if he was marching straight over into the Democratic camp.'

"This language is quite characteristic, gross and unwarrantable as it is unseemly, coming from a judicial officer. Davis, whatever position he gets into, is ever the politician, the partisan and the demagogue. His malevolence never forgets or spares a man who has ever stood in the way of any of his many attempts to get place. He seems unable to comprehend how any man can get along at the bar, or even the bench, without dabbling in politics and stocks, and parading himself at public meetings. My 'course,' which he can not 'account for,' has been simply to mind my own business and take no part whatever in politics or in Presidential nominations. As to the Manhattan Club, it has in its membership numerous Republicans whose characters, personal and political, are in no danger of being damaged by comparison with the author of this interview. Politics have as little to do with joining a social club as they 'ought' to have with behavior and decisions on the bench. This, I think, is all that need be said about this gratuitous fling from a scribbler in draggled ermine who evidentmeans to be spry enough this time not to get left."

The California Delegation Reception. Augusta, Me., June 11. - The arrival of the California and Maine delegations here last night was attended with the ringing of bells, the booming of cannons, and lire-works. The train bearing the delegates contained 1,200 people. Bath sent six car loads, and Lewiston and Bangor five each, and delegations came from Snowberger, Fsirfield, Waterville and Oakland. Prominent in the Bangor delegation was Hanni-bal Hamlin. The rain at 7 o'clock was severe enough to drive part of the crowd to their bouses, but there remained a jam to receive the guests when the train arrived. When the train arrived the engine was decorated with flags and bunting. large picture of Blaine was in the headlight, and on the forward car a large inscription, "Lewiston and Auburn greets the California delegation-for President, James G. Blaine." Ex-Governor Conner delivered a formal address of welcome to the visitors. Closing, he said:

"If Maine and Illinois shall win in 1884, Itching and as Illinois and Maine did in 1860, we, of this district and State, which he served so Burning Tor- long and faithfully, believe that you will find your best thanks in the administration which your candidate will give the country. Again, gentlemen, I bid you welcome. As friends of James G. Blaine, you need no other passport to the regard of his neighbors in the city of his home.'

Governor Davis, of California, responded at length. His remarks were greeted with prolonged applause. There were then cries for Hamlin, who appeared, erect and vigorous. An ovation fit for a king greeted him. Not even at Blaine's house was the responsive chord of Hamlin so thoroughly touched as when, with bared head and flashing eyes, the old man turned about so that all the multitude could see him. Cheer upon cheer swelled upon the air. Nothing during the day could begin to compare with this moment in dramatic in-

"It stirs the blood of age and makes the pulse beat and throb," he said, "to be in a scene like this. I rejoice in being able to meet the sons of California who have fought so gallant a fight side by side with the sons of Maine, and have gained such a triumph. It was a battle of undisciplined men against the trained and drilled forces of regulars, but the chieftain they have chosen will, with their aid and that of the undivided ranks of kepublican voters, sweep the country like a fire on a western prairie. Heartily we greet these sons of the West. You see around you the faces of men, who, with their compatriots, will give the man you have chosen as your leader a majority of 55,000 votes as he leaves the Pine Tree State. Oh! we men of Maine will send over the wires such a majority as will cheer the hearts and fire the brains of the men of California. To men engaged in such a cause as ours there is no such word as fail, and we shall not fail.

As he closed, the refrain was caught up by the crowd and it was some minutes before the tumult ceased sufficiently to allow Judge Knight, of California, to be in-

"I hardly know," he said, "how to begin to say a few words. While that aged and bonored friend, Hannibal Hamlin, was speaking, I was deeply affected. My mind went back to the stormy days of '61 and '62, when that loved and revered friend of humanity, Abraham Lincoln, and the honored and aged friend now with us stood as a barrier between us and defeat, and I thought, 'Here I am at the home of true Republicanism. Here, while time is sprinkling its diamond dust of white over the honored brow of age, you raise up another giant to lead us on to victory.' We have now as a leader a representative American, a representative Republican, a representative states-man, a typical American, 'God's noblest work, an honest man.'" line of march was through the principal atreets to Mr. Blaine's residence. All along the route crowds greeted them with cheering and the waving of banners. At Blaine's residence Congressman Boutell Is 'he Result of That Gentleman's made an address introducing the vistors, and Mr. Blaine responded as follows:

Visit to Washington.

"If anything could add to the pleasure of the welcome from my friends of Maine, it would be as it is to-day, to have them accompanied by the loyal and true hearted men from the Pacific Coast, whom they bring to your hospitality and whom we greet and welcome as our guests. I am very sure that you can not appreciate the embarrassment under which I speak, being so overwhelmed with demonstrations of kindness. I can only say from the depths of a profoundly thankful heart. God bless you and preserve you all." [Applause and cheers.]

Col. McClure responded in words of corfiality and assurance of support and victory. The delegations then adjourned to the Augusta House for supper and rest. Visiting bands afterward serenaded Mr. Blaine, but no reception was held. Threat-ening weather prevented the illumination.

Novel Political Suggestion.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 11 .- A prominent Republican of Milwaukee has written to a member of the Republican National Committee suggesting that a grand meeting to ratify the Presidential nomination be held in Chicago about the end of this month. He suggested that President Arthur be asked to preside, and that all leading Republicass, including Blaine and Logan, be called on for speeches. The idea is to take the wind out of the Democratic sails just before the assembling of the Democratic Convention.

A DOUBLE MURDER,

were almost instantly killed by pistol shots fired by Pat McDermott, alias Birmingham The three are bricklayers, and attended a meeting at their hall on Central avenue, opposite Court street, early in the evening. They stopped at Hart's saloon after the meeting, and about 12 o'clock, after drinking considerable, renewed an old quarrel, which brought on blows. The barkeeper summoned the police, who dispersed the crowd, but made no arrests.
the Kennedy brothers bore marks of the encounter. Not thirty minutes later, while the Kennedys were standing in front of the bar, McDermott entered, revolver in hand, and, after motioning the third man Charles died before reaching there, and considered. John a few minutes later.

Blood Thirsty Rufflans.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 11.-A desperate prize fight occurred to-day in a barn at Reedsville, this county. For some time a feud has existed between a party of roughs from Albany, N. Y., and a "gang" from Catskill. Each side selected a champion to fight the matter out, a rough named Rockfeller appearing for Hudson and Rampin for Catskill. After eight desperate rounds, in which the men fought like wild beasts, Rampin was kracked out and carried from the field in an almost lifeless condition. Time of the battle, 29 minutes.

She Wanted to Hold the Baby.

Sr. Louis, June 11.-Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Howard Lee, living at 1500 Carr street, tossed a six-months-old baby of her neighbor, Mrs. J. S. Barrett, out of a third story window. The shock resulted in the instant death of the child. Mrs. Lee came in to see Mrs. Barrett, and volunteered to down, others unroofed, with chimneys. hold the baby while the mother out houses, and fences totally destroyed. Prepared breakfast. A horrible temptation then seized the woman to the Missouri Road, in Nebraska, thirteen throw the child out of the window. It is supposed that she is insane.

Paid Him with Lead.

BISMARCK, Dak., June 11.—George Gibbs, an old resident of Bismarck, was fatally shot here last evening by a man named Ansley. Ansley had been buying bones, and had not paid some of the men for their work. The men demanded their pay, Gibbs among others. After a few cross words Ansley went to his room, returned with a revolver and shot Gibbs. He gave himself up to the authorities.

The Woman, of Course, Drowned. PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—John Gum-pher, accompanied by his wife Kate and a gentleman friend, went out for a row on the Delaware and when a short distance from shore, the boat was capsized and all hands were thrown into the water. The men succeeded in holding on to the boat until rescued, but the woman was drowned. Her body has not yet been recovered.

Fight With Picnickers. ERIE, Pa., June 11.—A gang of toughs to the number of 200 captured a train on the Lake Shore Railroad yesterday, near Buffalo Creek, with the Intention of riding to a pienic. The engineer cut loose and ran away with the engine. A large force of officers, after a flerce battle, rescued the train and dispersed the mob.

The New York Sun of the Opinion That McDonald Has Been Laid on the Shelf, and Calls for Bayard.

WASHINGTON, June 11 .- Ex-Senator Mconald, of Indiana, leaves for home to nights Prominent Indiana and New York congressmen have been consulting with him during his visit and it is reported the result of the conference is an agreement to push "McDonald and Slocum" for the Democratic Convention in the event of Tilden's declination. Voorhees and others believe Tilden's decline a sure thing, and think McDonald and Slocum would surely carry New York and Indiana, two doubtful, essential States.

New York, June 10 .- In an editorial two columns in length the Sun, under the head of "The Democratic Standard-Bearer," discusses all the candidates for the Presidency in the field before the Democratic National Convention. Of McDonald and the State of Indiana, it says:

"For a long time the belief has prevailed that Indiana might furnish a successful Democratse candidate; and, considering the peculiar qualities and the uncommon services of Mr. Holman, we have desired his nomination as the representative of the reforming Democracy. Mr. Hendricks, too, has well-founded claims on the appreciation of the Democratic masses of the And Cincinnati Will Continue to country; but of the three, Mr. McDonsid has perhaps been the most note worthy of late, and the possibility of John Hart, southeast corner of Court and Central avenue, was at 12:50 last night the scene of a cold-blooded double murder, useful qualifications, but the idea of runwhere two brothers, John and Charles Ken- ning him has been given up, especially nedy, aged about thirty-five and forty, since the Kentucky advocacy, which was were almost instantly killed by pistol shots so enthusiastic and animated, has turned away from him to proffer its friendship in other quarters. We conclude, then that Indiana must now be left out of the account, and that neither of her distinguished sons will this year be chosen President."

In concluding, it says:
"We have reserved to the last that veteran Democrat, that a complished and spotless gentleman, Thomas F. Bayard, of Dela-ware. There would be among Democrats of the old school a widespread sat-isfaction if the Convention should determine to nominate Mr. Bayard. A few years ago, the fact that in the conflict of the civil war, his sympathies, like those of Senator Logan of Illinois, are away, fired at the brothers, strik-believed to have at first inclined toward ing John in the right side, the the side of the Confederate States, ball passing entirely through him and was justly regarded as interposing lodging under the skin of the left side, some obstacle in the way of his nomina-He staggered to one side, and his brother tion; but that feeling, we believe, has been Charles made for the door to escape, when almost obliterated by the hand of time. A Kansas Cyclone Carried a Bank Off for Distribution. Atchison, Kan., June 11.-Information is just received of a destructive wind storm in the western portion of the State Saturday night last. The heavens had been fringed with black, ominous clouds all day with considerable wind and much rain. At 6 o'clock in the evening, at Cawker City the wind blew straight from the northwest with fearful velocity, tearing the roof off the Central Branch depot and scattering it in fragments over the prairie. The First National Bank building was forced from its foundations and carried away. About thirteen dwellings were either unroofed, demolished or wrecked in some manner. Many business houses were twisted on their foundations and had their fronts blown in. No lives are reported lost. At Warwick, the terminus of the Republican branch of the Union Pacific Road, the storm was also severe, many small houses being blown At Hardy, a small town on the Burlington & Missouri Road, in Nebruska, thirteen ed, while other damage to houses, stores, and shrubbery is reported. The rain fed in torrents, and covered the ground completely in many places.

The Campbell Bribery Case. CINCINNATI, June 11.—The bribery case of lawyer T. C. Campbell is in progress A man named Gaebe testifies that he was approached by Campbell, after he had been summoned to appear as a juror in the Berner murder trial, by suggestions that as he (Gaebe) was indebted to him (Campbell) he would now have an opportunity to pay the debt. Gaebe spurned the proposition, when Campbell retaliated, "Oh, if you want to be so nice you may as well go; we have no use for you." Gaebe was excused by Campbell and did not serve on the

Frightfully Narrow Escape. HARTFORD, Conn., June 11 .- Early this morning the engine of a passenger train on the Hartford & Connecticut Valley Rail-road jumped the track while crossing the trestle over Hog river, a quarter of a mile out of the city. The engine plunged from the trestle to the river below. Engineer Allen and fireman Beebe jumped, but not clearing the wreck both were badly injured. A passenger car containing fifty people was prevented from going over the trestle by the baggage car swinging broadside

COLLEGE DISGRACED.

Disgusting Practices Indulged in by Medical Students.

CINCINNATI, June 11 .- A sensation has been created by the resignation of Dr. William Owens as Professor of Materia Medica and Surgery of Pulte Medical College, this city. Dr. Owens has been a member of the faculty of Pulte College since its establishment, years ago, was for some years Dean of the college, and is the leading homocopathic physician of this city. With his retirement he brings suit against the college for services rendered, as does his son, Dr. William Owens, Jr., for which they have not been paid.

Among the students of the college, twenty-two are ladies. Dr. Owens, sr., tells some startling stories about the treatment received by some of the lady stu-dents at the hands of the low-minded male students. He says that on November 16 last a colored male subject, obtained from a Cincinnati cemetery, was brought before the male class and lectured upon. In an adjoining room hung a young lady student's cloak. After the lecture, one of the students, a Kentuckian, cut a portion of the colored body off and placed it in the posket of the cloak. When the lady put her cloak on she felt for her handkerchief, and, to her horror, she found the disgusting deposit, and became fearfully sick. The matter was reported to Dr. Owens, who stated what had occurred to the faculty, who in turn completely ignored the

The victim of the cruel and unpardonably filthy trick immediately left the college. She was a lady from Pittsburg and was highly connected. Some few days after this a white female subject was brought in. A lady from the city was present, and also a young male student, who, as he said afterward, wanted a little fun, and was guilty of taking most disgusting and ob-scene liberties with the dead. The horrifled lady left the room, and reported this case to Dr. Owens, who again reported to the faculty. The dean, Dr. Buck, was told of the occurrence, who gave the young man a very timid and mild reproof. Several other occurrences were reported, but none of such a flagrant nature. Since these oc-currences 12 ladies have left, out of a class

Dr. Owens further states that he refused to sign the diplomas of the parties who did the filthy tricks, because they were not de-serving of them, and this caused some of the present trouble.

A CALL FOR HEMP.

A Woman's Person Cut into Fragments by Tramps.

St. Paul, June 11.-A dispatch from Duluth gives details of a horrible murder in the Northwest. Mrs. Ercka, wife of a German farmer, at Hermantown, near Duiuth, went to a neighbor a house on an errand. She started to return home, but not appearing, a search was made, and her mangied remains were found near a place where tramps had made a fire for camping purposes. The body, when found, had two bullet hole through the temple. She had been assaulted and her body was placed on a log, the head downward, and literally dissected with knives, fragments of the body being scattered around. There is no doubt that the crime was the work of tramps. No arrests have been made, but the Sheriff, with an infuriated community at his back, is on the track of the butchers, and if they are captured they are likely to meet as horrible a fate as that of their Precaution Against Yellow Fever. NEW ORLEANS, June 11.-At a meeting of the Louisiana State Board of Health this evening a resolution was adopted reciting the necessity of protecting all the in-terests of the World's Exposition to be held here this winter, and deprecating the damage that would ensue to it by introducing veliow fever into the city, therefore requiring vessels from Mexican, West Indian and South American ports, which are now subject to ten days' detention, and after the loth of July to be detained forty days before being allowed to enter this port. The resolution will be sent to the Governor, who will at once issue the necessary proclamation.

Killed His Step Father.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 11.-John Wardle, an old man aged 80, living near the town of McMinnville, Yam H Il County, Oregon, was shot and instantly killed by George Farris, his stepson. Wardle and Farris' mother had been living on very unhappy terms some time. Sunday Farris visited his mother. A general family quarrel arose, when he drew a pistol and shot the old man dead. Farris is city marshal of McMinnville and a prominent citizen of the county. He immediately surrendered and is now in custody.

Singular Freaks of Lightning.

MILWAUKEE, June 11. - Conrad Diller, a farmer residing near St. Nazianz; Manitower County, was killed by lightning on Sunday evening. He was driving along in a wagon with five companions when h was killed. The other occupants of the vehicle and the horses were only stunned and soon recovered.

A Light Sentence.

Hastings, Neb., June 11.—William O.
